The report of the Vail Investigating Committee, with a power of attorney from the Russian in his rocket and bought appointed at its last meeting at Chicego, February 15th, will be considered. For months before the Congress met charges had been made that the dealings of Scretary Vail, of the National Tratting Association, with members of the association had been careless and full of a neglect that seemed studied and that moneys in his bands and due members could not be obtained. It was also charged that acknowledgements of general correspondence, and especially relating to moneys due, could not be obtained. In addition, it was insinuated, rather than charged, that the financial affairs of the office were in a bad way. The committee investigated and made its report, which has been print-ed. It is this report that today's congress is to receive and accept or reject. Its acceptance will be a vir-tual vote of "guilty," and will herald Secretary Vail's official decapitation. Its rejection will mean that he will be re-elected. Among the best known men present are: Judge James G. Grant. Davenport, Ia.; David Bonner, New York, and E. S. Edwards, Newark, N.
